What can possibly go wrong? Storms. Fires. Accidents. Theft. Inadequate packing by a vendor. Or just plain bad luck. In the event of a lost or damaged shipment, you may quickly discover all the gaps and loopholes in — and limits of — carrier liability.

Before you assume your shipments are adequately covered, get the facts.

CARGO INSURANCE THROUGH UPS CAPITAL®	CARRIER LIABILITY
Claim settlement based on real valuation (Ex. invoice value + freight costs)	Claim settlement based on weight of the shipment, package count or invoice value (if declared and agreed to by the carrier for a higher freight rate)
Consistent and reliable protection for all carriers, all modes	You must know the terms of service for each carrier and mode, including the liability offered, exemptions and exceptions
Coverage for all risks ¹	Carrier may be exempt of liability for acts of God, strikes, civil commotion and other risks covered by insurance
No need to prove fault or liability on the part of the carrier	Carrier may use multiple defenses to deny claims, and without establishing carrier liability there is no recovery
Coverage is door-to-door, regardless of how many carriers are used	A claim may need to be filed against each carrier individually, depending upon how shipment is structured
90 days to uncover concealed damage and still file a claim ²	Once bill of lading is signed, without exception, may be complicated and subject to onerous time frames
Coverage for additional expenses incurred to expedite a replacement shipment due to loss or damage	No coverage liability for expediting expenses
Claims commonly resolved within 7–10 business days	Claims against carriers can be lengthy, often requiring expensive and protracted litigation
